

Aranda is in the center of Spain, about 160 km north from Madrid, and quite high, because we are on top of the Iberian plateau... so we suffer very cold winters, very hot summers, no beach... Quite away from the typical Spanish image...

Aranda is the capital of the Ribera del Duero wine region. The town is famous for having medieval wine cellars that interconnect below the streets of the town centre.

Appart from the wine, we are also famous for the roast lamb and the “Torta de Aranda”, a warm, golden flatbread, brushed with extra virgin olive oil and baked to a crisp, airy perfection.

In addition to the primary sector, the economy is based on industry: more than a third of the population is engaged in the secondary sector.

Multinational companies such as Michelin, Grupo Leche Pascual or GlaxoSmithKline stand out.

The IES Vela Zanetti is a public secondary school that offers two educational stages:

- COMPULSORY SECONDARY EDUCATION (ESO) from 12 to 16 years.
- BACCALAUREATE, post-compulsory: from 16 to 18 years, with three modalities:

Visual Arts, Image, and Design

Humanities and Social Sciences

Science and Technology

Vela Zanetti

The school is named after the painter José Vela Zanetti, who was born close to Aranda de Duero and stood out as a muralist that depicts the rural life of Castille, but he has to exile during Franco's dictatorship.

Perhaps he is not worldwide known, but you can admire one huge mural (60 x 10 m) from his hand in the UN building in New York... and in our school!

We have two mural paintings, that portray the harvest in the Mediterranean area: one of cereals and the other of grapes.
